

A Frog's Life in Preschool

Last weekend I found some frog eggs in a ditch. I brought them to school and with the morning class set up an aquarium habitat.

A lot of the eggs have already hatched. I am hoping we will see the whole life cycle right in our tank.

Because tadpoles look so much like fish many children think we are wrong about calling them frogs.

Pictures from the internet